

Времена английского глагола.

| | Indefinite (факт) | Continuous | Perfect | Perfect Continuous |
|--------------------|---|--|--|---|
| Present | I translate articles every day . He gets up at 9. Sometimes, usually, always, often, seldom. | To be + P 1 He is translating an article now . | To have + P2 He has just read the book. Already, отрицание. yet, ever, never, recently, lately, this week, for ages, today, often, just, once, seldom, many times, up to now. | To have be doing He has been reading the book since morning. For a long time, for 2 hours; since... ...since they got married. |
| Past | I translated an article yesterday . Two weeks ago, last week, last year. Вопросы с when? | He was translating an article when I came . < at 3 o'clock yesterday, from 2 to 3 >. Future Cont. Passive нет. | When he came, I had already translated the article. (косвенная речь) He said that he done it. He had translated the article by 5 o'clock. | When I came, he had been translating the article for 3 hours. |
| Future | He will translate an article tomorrow . Soon, next week. | Он будет переводить в 3 часа завтра. He will be translating an article at 3 o'clock. < From 2 to 3 when you come.> | He will have translated the article by 5 o'clock. (Он переведёт статью в 5 часов.) | By the 1 st of September she will have been working as doctor for 50 years. |
| Future in the Past | He said that he would translate. | He said that he would be translating. | He said that he would have translated by 5 o'clock. | |